Exchange as a member of the Chamber and a citizen of Richmond he should give the same advice.

Mr. D. S. McCarthy, a member of the committee, favoring the materity report, said that the committee recognized that the Bell Company had prejudiced its case by not meeting the demand of the Chamber for lower rates, by not applying for a new franchise, and by applying for a new franchise the committee did not think it wise to recommend that the organization use its influence in favor of one corporation against the other.

Mr. Everett Waddey earnestly advocated the adoption of the minority report, saying that he did not think the membership of these two companies in the Chamber should have the slightest effect upon its action; that if such was the case, whatever interest the city or its citizens might have at stake, public corporations would shield themselves by membership in the Chamber. He added that in the present instance the citizens had a direct interest involved amounting to about £8,000 per annum, and that, therefore, it was perfectly proper to protect their interest by influencing patronage in favor of the company which would permanently secure them that reduction in the cost of telephone service. He expressed the opinion that the thanks of the Chamber were due to Mr. Gunst and others who were instrumental in securing such action by the Council as revoked the franchise of the Bell Company.

The question being called for, the vote was taken upon the minority report of the committee, which was adopted by a large majority.

The meeting then adjourned.

"In December, 1884," Mr. Powers said, "the City Council revoked the franchise of the Bell Company, and gave them a year to ask for a renewal, which they have never done, as far as I know. In the mean time the city has given the franchise to the Richmond Telephone Company, requiring them to deposit $5,000 with the proper officers of the city, which was done. They also protected the citizens by every possible provision. One was that if at any time the Richmond Telephone Company should charge more than their present rate, the franchise should be revoked, and the property revert to the city. The city has no control of this character over the Rell Company. We all know how exacting they have been in their charges. Well do I remember when Mr. McCluer was before this body sometime ago urging us not to use our influence with the Council. He stated that every subscriber cost the company $50, and that he did not consider $10 too much profit, when the outlay was considered, and for one I agreed with him. Now, after keeping perfectly quiet all these months, permitting the new company to put up their poles and wires, just as they are Jeginning to be ready to give a good service, he steps forward and offers to give the same service that he says considered at such great loss.

A large and intelligent audience attended the meeting last night, under the auspices of the First-Ward Bryan, Sewall, and Lamb Campaign Club, at Sixth and Hull streets. The crowd began to gather some time before the speaking commenced, and at 8 o'clock the large hall was packed to the doors with enthusiastic Democrats. The chairman of the club stated that, though it was the regularly appointed "I have heard complaint of the service of the new company," went on Mr. Powers "There is no doubt this will improve. The Bell Company was a long time in making theirs as good as it now is, and I wish to say here that the service they give us in Richmond is as good, if not better, than any I have seen. The new company, with few exceptions, I am toid, is employing all their female operators from this city and Manchester, and as it requires but a short time to learn, no doubt the service will rapidly improve. I think, therefore, it is eminently proper that this Chamber should adopt the resolutions, and that we should use whatever evening for the transaction of business, the club had been fortunate in securing several able speakers for the occasion, and they would address the assemblage. He then presented, in a few words of introduction, Mr. W. H. Garnett, who speke with telling fervor and eloquence upon the issues of the compaign. He went on to show how this was a fight of right against wrong, a struggle of I think, therefore, it is eminently proper that this Chamber should adopt the resolutions, and that we should use whatever influence we have to induce our people to subscribe to the new company. I have said nothing about the legal status of this company, nothing of the injunction which they have gotten out against the city, that being a matter for the court; but this we can do, we can induce all to take the new 'phone. I think we shall thereby accomplish our object—namely, of having only one 'phone, for the Bell Company will hardly care to remain with us without business."

Mr. Charles Straus said that at the last meeting he was opposed to the resolution offered, but his mind had been changed by the statement of Mr. McCluer that but one company could exist, and that it was the intention of his company. If necessary, to take the case to the highest court in the land, and that the litigation of it might require five years. The Democratic idea of government was to legislate to make the masses happy, said Mr. Garnett. The speaker next took up the money question, and proceeded to batter Republican arguments for so-called "sound-money" into a pulp. "Yes," said he, "they rant about having sound money, sound money, indeed! They'll get the money, and you'll get the sound."

The charges created quite an excitement when they became known throughout the city, and quite a large crowd gathered at the station-house this evening. Messrs. Mulcaha and Hubbard, and M. J. Sheffield, formerly lieutenant of the police corps, were the witnesses against Lieutenant Chandler, and their testimony was to the effect that such a agreement was made effect that such an agreement was made effect that such an agreement was made when the property was sold. Lieutenant Chandler denied the charges, claiming that he told the purchasers that he had made money at this stand, and that he would do everything in his power, if they bought the property, to help them make some. At one time a personal difficulty between Lieutenant Chandler and Mr. Habbard was only avertical by the inter-arrested here last Friday by Philadelphia post-office inspectors, was arraigned be-fore United States Commissioner Scott this afternoon, and in default of $2,500 ball remanded to await the action of the Brooklyn grand jury. He was charged with having mailed green-goods circulars from Brooklyn for the purpose of extorting money under false pretences from William T. Sullivan, of Lee, Fla. Sullivan keeps a general store in the town named, and Green B. Haven is a farmer in the same place. They with Havenord in the same place. They, with Haywood Baggett, of Thomasville, Ga., were the "come-ons" in the case. According to their story their purpose was to "do" Morgan. They understood the green-goods game, and made up their minds to get hold of any good money Morgan might have and decamp with it. So they will be taken to Brooklyn te-morrow to tell their tale to the grand jury. FATAL REPUBLICAN MEETING.

A Negro and a Prominent White Man Killed. KNOXVILLE, TENN., October 27.—A dispatch from Coal Creek, the famous rioting mining town thirty miles from rioting mining town thirty miles from here, says a very sensational shooting affray occurred there last night, in which two men were killed and others were wounded.
